The Voice and Philosophy of Inspire Belief

Inspire Belief will show us a different way of viewing the world. We will shine a light of its beauty, its diversity and we show you how incredibly important you are. Though laughter and stories we take off the masks we wear; we all love, feel and dream and we are all vulnerable. Inspire Belief will bring understanding, happiness and self belief to people by bringing us together.

I will have my own voice to share and I will do that in many ways. By using our future website, the online village newspapers, our library, the Inspire Belief events, Inspire Kids and our cartoon characters Molly and Arthur. But I will not be alone; the vision of Inspire Belief is to invite other leaders to share their voice. This world has many treasures and until we know of them they won't exist to us, with knowledge comes understanding.

Two neighbours can live so close to each other, until one neighbour understands the shoes the other walks in there will always be a wall in between them. We are scared of the unknown; we tend to see mainly negative images of other diversities. We know when we are judgemental we hold negative feelings within ourselves, feelings that are created out of an illusion. Once we understand the path that the other has walked the illusion and feelings disappear and while that takes a journey to learn, we still can help by breaking down some of the barriers.

I want my respected leaders to share their wisdom, the beauty and goodness of their culture and nation, to be an inspiration to the world around them.

To read how I will do this I have created a platform for their voices; go to the Inspire Belief global website information chapter.

The Future Inspire Belief Global Village

Where infinite possibilities exist

In blueprint the Inspire Belief Global Website has being created. It's an interactive village with a new interface (new look) and utterly completely unique, you will be joining Molly and Arthur in Inspire Beliefs Global Village. A village that binds all the parts of inspire belief together and where infinite possibilities exist.....

Just some of the buildings throughout Inspire Beliefs village

Your interactive Home

Events Centre where you will be inspired

Town Hall where the community meets

Shopping Centre

Access to other Global Inspire Belief villages

Here's an example of one of the buildings

The diversity centre/shop once inside this building you will see a world and inside the edge of that world would be symbols, representing cultures and nations. Once clicked it would take you to that particular culture you have chosen to read about; their treasures and beauty that exist within that culture/nation and most importantly the wisdom that is shared with you from a leader that will represent their culture/nation. The style in these pages will be designed for that particular culture/nation, for example if the Maori culture had a presence it may open to a wharenuui and within the wharenuui will be the voice of a Kaumatua, that site may also have its own community and events, a place where you can cultural indentify to. It's a way for other nationalities to easily learn about each other is a much more positive way then what we are showing currently. This would be a non-political platform.

Currently the website's at blueprint stage and just waiting for funding to begin the project. The website designers are award winning leading New Zealand designers Enlighten Designs.

This online village will be an inspiration

The Inspire Belief Clubs

A place to be inspired

The Inspire Belief clubs are a place where people can dare to start living their dreams, to realise what they are capable of doing and where you are never told you can't.

This is not a group hugging club it is just a place where friends can meet, to inspire and encourage each other to be all that they want to be. I envisioned a place where I want to go to be surrounded by people that wanted to live their dreams, be inspired and importantly are happy. So the club was formed, it's a shining beacon for these motivating people to link up and to inspire those that come finding a haven to share or find their dreams without fear of being rejected.

Watch the reasonable entertaining film clip about this at current site www.inspirebelief.com

The clubs will be supported by us; with coaches and information to help you run or be involved in an Inspire Belief club. We include a passport in your membership pack for those that want to keep a memory of their achievements, a place to put your dreams into and a reminder of the events you may have being too. Plus we honour your personal achievements in a unique way. We will support our members to create and run their own club; it could be a group of friends getting together or an open club for many to join.

Some of our clubs will be specialised they will have their own unique interest; there are many experienced talented people out there with knowledge and support to be passed on. We also will have our get inspired Clubs which will be run by a individual life coach, this is not a private life coaching session just a club where extra support is given and a great starting point for a new member.

Inspire Belief Club membership is charged at New Zealand $50 annually, making it affordably for people to be involved in Inspire Belief.

Inspire Belief Events

Where dreams can happen

There are two types of Inspire Belief events the big dream events and the smaller events which are designed to support local communities and businesses, events are offered to our members.

The big dream events are run by Inspire Belief headquarters they are more unique events like the Cinderella Ball which invited special people within the community that deserved a night out (see current website for photos). Then these locally based events which involve local businesses and clubs.

New Zealand Season for events:

Spring Adventure series: Getting people out into nature and get some exercise in, to try new things by working in conjunction with adventure businesses and clubs we spark that inspiration again.

Late summer/early autumn Post new years: Our one off special events and the bigger dream events run by Inspire Belief headquarters. An example of the smaller events would be our motorbike event we ran in conjunction with Peter Glidden Honda for learners and first timers; I can tell you they sold a few bikes after that event. This is all about getting people to follow their dreams and experiencing what life has to offer.

Winter Hibernation time: Wellbeing and self care series on pampering and taking care of yourself. This series is designed for the multi tasking women as men usually just require a comfy chair, something good on telly and no one to talk; to rejuvenate. Women are a lot more complex! This series will be duplicated around New Zealand using local nutritionists and wellbeing specialists.

There is an abundance of things to see and do out in our communities, so we are creating a vehicle for people to experience this by having one off events we give members the opportunity to try something new and have more experiences and abundance in their lives. This also supports and offers local business and clubs to promote themselves in a positive and unique way.

All our events are run with the upmost intention of promoting good health, inspiration and confidence. Without the year we will continue to run informative events promoting GREAT HEALTH and a POSITIVE LIFESTYLE.

Inspire Kids WORLD

The Concept

To inspire, encourage imagination, and build self esteem (plus help at risk kids)

And how will we do that?

I have created a concept of an Inspire World for the kids. Using our adult character Molly and Arthur as parents I have created a platform story tale world for Inspire Kids.

The concept is a storyline with characters (posters and booklets) to create a nationwide writing/drawing competition throughout our schooling system. We encourage kids to get involved in the diversity of the characters, creating stories and using their imagination. Each character will have a storyline to then which we will give the kids.

We will split the storylines up into different age groups:

- The Farmyard is easier for the younger kids
- Enchanted Forest + farmyard + kid characters for the older kids

And a drawing competition for those that prefer to draw

We will use supporting products:

- Game cards directed at social skills
- Help cards for at risk children
- Stationery, clothing, children's soft toys and other associated products

And eventually we would like to have an online world within the inspire belief website for kids.

The inspire kids world as well as being directed at building self esteem we would also include a safe haven for children at risk to contact us. By using our characters we will create an inviting haven for our children

During the process of creating Inspire Kids World we will put together a round table of children's development and educational specialists and other important parties such as autism NZ and CYFS. There we can best make use of our characters to do the job they are intending of doing and we can also look at other areas that we can develop that will help our children.

The Brief Story Line

Molly and Arthur live on a dairy farm (as I do). They have two children one girl and one boy (the boy is beautifully autistic) they will have friends from neighbouring farms and school, plus from time to time Molly and Arthur have overseas children staying, the student exchange program this adds different cultures into the storyline. We would presume the storylines will be mainly around the farmyard animals and creatures of the enchanted forest which borders the farm, although the children who write the stories will have feel rain on this.

Some of the creatures of the farmyard (8 in total)

Turk the Lama the farmyard pet with culture, he hangs out with the sheep. Turk feels like he sometimes doesn't fit in, but soon realises that being different can have a lot of advantages, one being able to see things other sheep can't.

Joey the Wonder dog the cutest dog in the whole world on wheels. Joey had a farmyard accident as a young pup and is paralysed in his back legs. Joey uses a little trolley to get around. Does this slow Joey down? Of course not! Joey is a clever mastermind with the speed of a cheetah and the uncanny abilities of a monkey. His purpose is to steal food from Molly's kitchen. No one ever sees Joey in the kitchen even though there is always food missing!

Some of the Farm yard animals that mix with the enchanted forest...

Sunny the 007 Pig the undercover spy pig for the enchanted forest. Sunny lives on Arthur's and Molly's farm. His job is to protect the enchanted forest from the not so good hunters. Sunny can be a little serious at times after all he is a spy. When no human is about Sunny has the magical ability to fly. True he is not a very good flier; his weight tends to keep him grounded. Although in times of need he just has enough flying ability it's enough to get him to the enchanted forest when time is of the essence. He does try to practise when no one is looking.

Clyde the adolescent Clydesdale best friend of Uni the unicorn. When everyone has left for school he races out into the enchanted forest to hang out with Uni on their adventures. He's brave with a big heart, loyal and a little goofy at times. He hasn't mastered the skill of jumping yet so Clyde sneaks into the enchanted forest by placing both set of legs flat and manoeuvring himself under the fence into the woods. Unfortunately Clyde is a little big and always manages to pull half and fence out resulting in infuriating Arthur who hasn't a clue who's pulling out half his fence line.

Some of the creatures of the enchanted forest....

Uni the beautifully unicorn future protector of the enchanted forest. Uni is a young female unicorn and she is a magnificent unicorn her destiny is to become protector of the enchanted forest like her parents. Uni isn't confident in her abilities and she's a little worried about the other creatures of the forest laughing at her if she gets things wrong. Fortunately Uni has a great friend in Clyde who supports and encourages her and when she needs extra help she has the wise and kind Mother Nature commander and chief of the whole enchanted forest to turn to.

Wind Whispers of the enchanted forest. The wind whispers are Mother Nature's workers, when the wind gently blows in the trees look up you may see one. They look like a fairy crossed with an elf, but they are hard to see as their skin is a shimmering translucent clear colour, in certain light you may catch one in the corner of your eye. They move with the wind, preferably on leaves riding them like surf boards in the wind currents. They sit in the trees watching over you and listen to your thoughts and will report back to Mother Nature. Sometimes Mother Nature sends out Uni and Clyde to help out young children in need.

From the information that we receive from the stories of our school children, we will have an understanding of what the future will hold for Inspire Kids World. From the works we would like to produce a children's book. We are intending on using this concept globally.

As you can see there are many more possibilities for Inspire Belief I have shown you a glimpse
